Arrest made in early morning homicide

Christopher Dooley

Investigators with the Shreveport Police Department's Violent Crimes Unit have made an arrest in the shooting death of a man at a west Shreveport convenience store early this morning.

On June 19, 2020, just after 1:00 a.m., Shreveport Police officers were dispatched to the Texaco convenience store in the 2600 block of Hollywood Avenue on reports of a shooting. Arriving officers located the victim suffering multiple gunshot injuries to the body. The victim was transported to Ochsners LSU Health Hospital where he ultimately succumbed to his injuries.

Violent Crimes and Crime Scene investigators responded to the scene and launched their investigation. The suspect, 31-year-old Christopher Dooley of the 1200 block of Commerce Street, made claims of self-defense after an alleged struggle over his vehicle. Investigators were able to secure video footage of the incident that detectives believe showed that Dooley did not act in self-defense. Detectives also learned that the vehicle that the victim was allegedly trying to steal did not belong to Dooley. The vehicle was reported stolen out of Texas.

Following interviews with investigators, Dooley was charged with (1) count of Second Degree Murder and (1) count of Illegal Possession of Stolen Things.
